How is this measured?

How is this enforced?

What does your fridge look like now?

What new questions arise that need to be answered?

Implementing this requires letting go of…

What tools are used?

What happens in summer? In winter?

What emotions drive this?

What fears arise?

(How) does food travel?

How does this impact our grandchildren?

Who pays?

How are people invited to participate?

How is this incentivized?

What slows down?
What speeds up?

As a result of this intervention, what can we say we are proud of?

How is this taught and learned?

Who is collaborating?

Who is advantaged?
Who is disadvantaged?

If we had to write one line about this for a history book, what would it say?

How are complaints heard and non-compliance addressed?

Where might loopholes exist?

What cultural ways of knowing might get fractured through this?

What happens when something breaks?

How does this impact our elders?

What values drive this?

What gets highlighted?
What gets forgotten?

What cultural ways of knowing might get revitalized through this?

Where might food still be wasted?

Where is there friction?

What information might still stay hidden or sacred?

How are conflicts managed?

What information is being shared intentionally? Unintentionally?

What motivates or forces someone to do this?

